

SURREY INDIVIDUAL PREP SCHOOL SQUASH TOURNAMENT 13TH February 2011

A total of 59 players entered this prestigious tournament held at Epsom College on 13th February. This was the first year that Neil Frankland of Frankland Squash Matters Ltd had organised the event in association with Epsom College.

Originally the two age groups played in separate venues but last year a new format was introduced and effectively two separate tournaments were run in one venue at Epsom College and this format has proved to be a great success with the Juniors playing in the morning and Seniors in the afternoon.

Junior players arrived at college's fabulous sports complex first and were met by Neil Frankland, who is the Surrey County Coach and Squash Coach at Epsom College.

Each player registered at the Tournament Desk and received their complimentary tournament T-shirt and were then directed to the Squash Courts to prepare for the opening matches.

Each of the players showed impeccable etiquette and determination and the first matches commenced promptly.

A total of 140 Matches were played and the results were as follows:

Neil Frankland commented that:

"This tournament was initiated and superbly run by Tony Young of Chinthurst School for many years. Tony approached me 2 years ago and I agreed to take over its running along with the other tournaments and Squash events I hold annually. Previously, this tournament was split over two sites, and after some consideration I felt it may be more convenient to run it over one day, in one venue at Epsom College. I am pleased to say that the decision proved beneficial and the tournament ran very smoothly to time again this year with an increase in 100 matches over last year played and was a great success with lots of very positive feedback!"
